

Celeste - Composting action group

What was your goal and what did you achieve?

My goal is to have the school aware of how composting works as well as the benefits of reusing. I would also like to see this compost being used throughout our gardens. I have researched and learnt many things about decomposition. I set up a composting action group and used my research to teach the children in the group. I have been fortunate enough the staff at my school have helped me with the resources I needed, such as composting bins and food collection bins. My grandfather bought composting worms to help boost up the process. I have made posters for the classrooms explaining what you should and shouldn't put in the bins.

Biggest success?

My composting project is going terrifically and will bloom even more in the coming years.

Next steps?

I will be training a few Year 6s so that this movement can be continued through the years after I leave at the end of this year. I would like to thank Y.E.C. for this amazing experience and enabling me to be a part of it, I really do believe that Y.E.C. has helped me realise that not everything revolves around a screen and that it's ok to come out of your comfort zone!

This case study was written by Celeste.